

- Preface
- Introduction
- Acknowledgments
- Chapter 1 What is a Telecommunications Company?
- Makers of Hardware
- Makers of Software
- Providers of Service to the Hardware and Software Companies
- Intellectual Property
- Providers of Service to the User
- Wireline Telephone Companies
- Cellular (Wireless) Carrier
- Personal Communications Services (PCS) Companies/Carriers
- Paging Systems
- Satellites
- Cable Television Networks
- Internet
- Providing Service to Users (Selling Retail Telecommunications Services) Providers of Service to Other Providers of Service
- Perspective: Supplier and Customer
- Why is the Carrier-Vendor Relationship Important? Interdependency
- The Culture
- Telecommunications Professional and Telecommunications Manager
- Summary
- Chapter 2 Organizational Structures
- Classic Organizational Structure
- Decision-Control Process and Organizational Structure
- Centralized Decision Making
- Decentralized Decision Making
- What is the Model to Follow for Telecommunications Companies? Service Provider Decentralization Gone Wrong
- Optimizing the Organizational Structure
- Summary
- Chapter 3 The Telecommunications Service Provider
- Basic Organizational Functions
- Wireless Telecommunications Carrier Organizational Functions
- Wireless Carrier Organizational Functions
- Internet Service Provider Organizational Functions
- Carrier Organizational Structures
- Vertical and Flat Organizational Structures
- Departmentation
- Product Departmentation
- Functional Departmentation
- Balancing Financial Objectives and Organizational Needs
- Senior Management
- General Counsel and Vice President of Legislative/Regulatory
- Legislative Regulatory Area

- Legal Group
- Vice President of Public Relations
- Example of Public Relations
- Public Relations--Perception is Reality
- Chief Technical Officer--Technology and Operations
- Network Planning and Engineering
- Strategic Network Planning
- Network Operations
- Chief Financial Officer
- Vice President of Information Technology (IT)
- Vice President of Finance/Comptroller
- Vice President of Sales and Marketing
- Chief Operating Officer (COO)
- Vice President of Human Resources and Administration
- Economic Downturn and the Role of HR
- Employee Benefits--Promoting the Company
- Fiscal Accountability
- Summary
- Chapter 4 The Telecommunications Vendor--Hardware, Software, and Services
- Outsourcing
- Multitude of Vendor Types--Impact on Organizational Structure
- Basic Organizational Functions
- Organizing the Vendor
- Departmentation
- Product Departmentation
- Product Departmentation Diversification and Market Response
- Vendor Organizations
- Senior Management
- Product Lines
- The Process of Creation
- The Creative Process--Organized Creation and Creative Management
- The Creative Process--Product Management
- Example of Product Management Process
- Product Management: Mediation, Facilitation, Coordination--Hitting the Mark
- Product Definition
- The Four Ps
- Product Life Cycle
- Contract Signing
- Vendor Organization Requirements
- Summary
- Chapter 5 Strategy, Tactics, and Shared Values
- Strategic Planning
- Market Segment and Size
- Value: The Story
- Value: The Product's/Service's Intrinsic Value
- Value: The Value Proposition
- Distribution

- Distribution: Sales
- Distribution: Marketing the Product
- Distribution: Warehousing and Delivering the Product
- Scope and Scale of Execution
- Tactical Planning
- Binding Strategy and Tactics: The Vision
- Where Do Vision, Strategy, and Tactics Lead the Company? Summary
- Chapter 6 Market Focus--Understanding the Telecomm