

- 1 Introduction to Wireless Systems p. 1
- 1.1 Wireless Systems and Markets p. 2
- Classification of Wireless Systems p. 2
- Cellular Telephone Systems p. 3
- Personal Communications Systems p. 5
- Satellite Systems for Wireless Voice and Data p. 6
- Global Positioning Satellite System p. 7
- Wireless Local Area Networks p. 9
- Other Wireless Systems p. 9
- 1.2 Design and Performance Issues p. 11
- Choice of Operating Frequency p. 12
- Multiple Access and Duplexing p. 13
- Circuit Switching versus Packet Switching p. 13
- Propagation p. 14
- Radiated Power and Safety p. 15
- Other Issues p. 16
- 1.3 Introduction to Wireless System Components p. 16
- Basic Radio System p. 17
- Antennas p. 19
- Filters p. 19
- Amplifiers p. 21
- Mixers p. 22
- Oscillators p. 22
- Baseband Processing p. 23
- 1.4 Cellular Telephone Systems and Standards p. 23
- Cellular and the Public Switched Telephone Network p. 23
- AMPS Cellular Telephone System p. 24
- Digital Personal Communications System Standards p. 26
- 2 Transmission Lines and Microwave Networks p. 29
- 2.1 Transmission Lines p. 29
- Lumped Element Model for a Transmission Line p. 30
- Wave Propagation on a Transmission Line p. 31
- Lossless Transmission Lines p. 32
- Terminated Transmission Lines p. 33
- Special Cases of Terminated Transmission Lines p. 36
- Generator and Load Mismatches p. 39
- 2.2 The Smith Chart p. 41
- Derivation of the Smith Chart p. 42
- Basic Smith Chart Operations p. 44
- Using The Admittance Smith Chart p. 45
- 2.3 Microwave Network Analysis p. 47
- Impedance and Admittance Matrices p. 47
- The Scattering Matrix p. 50
- The Transmission (ABCD) Matrix p. 53
- 2.4 Impedance Matching p. 55
- The Quarter-Wave Transformer p. 56

- Matching Using L-Sections p. 58
- Single-Stub Tuning p. 61
- 3 Noise and Distortion in Microwave Systems p. 68
- 3.1 Review of Random Processes p. 69
 - Probability and Random Variables p. 69
 - The Cumulative Distribution Function p. 69
 - The Probability Density Function p. 70
 - Some Important Probability Density Functions p. 71
 - Expected Values p. 71
 - Autocorrelation and Power Spectral Density p. 72
- 3.2 Thermal Noise p. 74
 - Noise Voltage and Power p. 74
- 3.3 Noise in Linear Systems p. 77
 - Autocorrelation and Power Spectral Density in Linear Systems p. 77
 - Gaussian White Noise through an Ideal Low-pass Filter p. 78
 - Gaussian White Noise through an Ideal Integrator p. 79
 - Mixing of Noise p. 80
 - Narrowband Representation of Noise p. 81
- 3.4 Basic Threshold Detection p. 83
 - Probability of Error p. 84
- 3.5 Noise Temperature and Noise Figure p. 87
 - Equivalent Noise Temperature p. 87
 - Measurement of Noise Temperature p. 88
 - Noise Figure p. 89
 - Noise Figure of a Lossy Line p. 90
 - Noise Figure of Cascaded Components p. 91
- 3.6 Noise Figure of Passive Networks p. 93
 - Noise Figure of a Passive Two-port Network p. 94
 - Application to a Mismatched Lossy Line p. 95
 - Application to a Wilkinson Power Divider p. 96
- 3.7 Dynamic Range and Intermodulation Distortion p. 98
 - Gain Compression p. 99
 - Intermodulation Distortion p. 100
 - Third-Order Intercept Point p. 101
 - Dynamic Range p. 102
 - Intercept Point of Cascaded Components p. 104
 - Passive Intermodulation p. 106
- 4 Antennas and Propagation for Wireless Systems p. 111
- 4.1 Antenna System Parameters p. 111
 - Fields and Power Radiated by an Antenna p. 112
 - Far-Field Distance p. 114
 - Radiation Intensity p. 114
 - Radiation Patterns p. 115
 - Directivity p. 116
 - Radiation Efficiency p. 117
 - Gain p. 118

- Aperture Efficiency p. 118
- Effective Area p. 118
- Antenna Polarization p. 119
- 4.2 The Friis Equation p. 120
- The Friis Equation p. 120
- Effective Isotropic Radiated Power p. 121
- Impedance Mismatch p. 122
- Polarization Mismatch p. 123
- Equivalent Circuits for Transmit and Receive Antennas p. 124
- 4.3 Antenna Noise Temperature p. 125
- Background and Brightness Temperature p. 125
- Antenna Noise Temperature p. 127
- G/T p. 129
- 4.4 Basic Practical Antennas p. 131
- Electrically Small Dipole Antenna p. 132
- Half-Wave Dipole Antenna p. 134
- Monopole Antenna p. 135
- Sleeve Monopole Antenna p. 136
- Electrically Small Loop Antenna p. 137
- 4.5 Propagation p. 138
- Free-space Propagation p. 139
- Ground Reflections p. 140
- Path Loss for Ground Reflections p. 142
- Realistic Path Loss p. 142
- Attenuation p. 143
- 4.6 Fading p. 144
- Rayleigh Fading p. 145
- 5 Filters p. 151
- 5.1 Filter Design by the Insertion Loss Method p. 152
- Characterization by Power Loss Ratio p. 152
- Maximally Flat Low-Pass Filter Prototype p. 154
- Equal-Ripple Low-Pass Filter Prototype p. 157
- Linear Phase Low-Pass Filter Prototype p. 158
- 5.2 Filter Scaling and Transformation p. 158
- Impedance Scaling p. 158
- Frequency scaling for low-pass filters p. 159
- Low-pass to High-pass Transformation p. 162
- Bandpass and Bandstop Transformation p. 164
- 5.3 Low-Pass and High-Pass Filters Using Transmission Line Stubs p. 168
- Richard's Transformation p. 168
- Kuroda's Identities p. 169
- 5.4 Stepped-Impedance Low-Pass Filters p. 173
- Approximate Equivalent Circuits for Short Transmission Line Sections p. 174
- 5.5 Bandpass Filters Using Transmission Line Resonators p. 178
- Impedance and Admittance Inverters p. 178
- Bandpass Filters Using Quarter-Wave Coupled Quarter-Wave Resonators p. 179

- Bandpass Filters Using Capacitively Coupled Quarter-Wave Resonators p. 183
- 6 Amplifiers p. 189
- 6.1 FET and Bipolar Transistor Models p. 190
- Field Effect Transistors p. 190
- Bipolar Transistors p. 192
- 6.2 Two-port Power Gains p. 194
- Definitions of Two-Port Power Gains p. 194
- Special Cases p. 197
- Further Discussion of Two-Port Power Gains p. 198
- 6.3 Stability p. 199
- Stability Circles p. 200
- Tests for Unconditional Stability p. 202
- 6.4 Amplifier Design Using S Parameters p. 205
- Design for Maximum Gain p. 205
- Maximum Stable Gain p. 207
- Constant Gain Circles and Design for Specified Gain p. 210
- 6.5 Low-noise Amplifier Design p. 214
- 6.6 Power Amplifiers p. 218
- Characteristics of Power Amplifiers and Amplifier Classes p. 218
- Large-Signal Characterization of Transistors p. 219
- Design of Class A Power Amplifiers p. 221
- 7 Mixers p. 225
- 7.1 Mixer Characteristics p. 225
- Frequency Conversion p. 225
- Image Frequency p. 227
- Conversion Loss p. 228
- Noise Figure p. 229
- Intermodulation Distortion p. 230
- Isolation p. 230
- 7.2 Diode Mixers p. 230
- Small-Signal Diode Characteristics p. 231
- Single-Ended Mixer p. 232
- Large-Signal Model p. 233
- Switching Model p. 237
- 7.3 FET Mixers p. 239
- Single-Ended FET Mixer p. 239
- Other FET Mixers p. 242
- 7.4 Other Mixer Circuits p. 243
- Balanced Mixers p. 243
- Small-Signal Analysis of the Balanced Mixer p. 245
- Image Reject Mixer p. 246
- 8 Transistor Oscillators and Frequency Synthesizers p. 250
- 8.1 Radio Frequency Oscillators p. 251
- General Analysis p. 251
- Oscillators Using a Common Emitter BJT p. 252
- Oscillators Using a Common Gate FET p. 254

- Practical Considerations p. 255
- Crystal Oscillators p. 256
- Voltage-Controlled Oscillators p. 258
- 8.2 Microwave Oscillators p. 258
- Negative Resistance Oscillators p. 259
- Transistor Oscillators p. 261
- Dielectric Resonator Oscillators p. 264
- 8.3 Frequency Synthesis Methods p. 268
- Direct Synthesis p. 268
- Digital Look-up Synthesis p. 269
- Phase-Locked Loops p. 271
- Practical Synthesizer Circuits p. 272
- Fractional-N Phase-Locked Loops p. 273
- 8.4 Phase-Locked Loop Analysis p. 273
- Phase Detectors p. 274
- Transfer Function for the Voltage-Controlled Oscillator p. 275
- Analysis of Linearized Phase-Locked Loop p. 275
- First-Order Loop p. 277
- Second-Order Loop p. 278
- 8.5 Oscillator Phase Noise p. 280
- Representation of Phase Noise p. 281
- Leeson's Model for Oscillator Phase Noise p. 282
- Effect of Phase Noise on Receiver Performance p. 285
- 9 Modulation Techniques p. 288
- 9.1 Analog Modulation p. 288
- Single-Sideband Modulation p. 289
- Double-Sideband Suppressed-Carrier Modulation p. 292
- Double-Sideband Large-Carrier Modulation p. 295
- Envelope Detection of Double-Sideband Modulation p. 296
- Frequency Modulation p. 298
- 9.2 Binary Digital Modulation p. 303
- Binary Signals p. 304
- Amplitude Shift Keying p. 304
- Frequency Shift Keying p. 306
- Phase Shift Keying p. 307
- Carrier Synchronization p. 309
- 9.3 Error Probabilities for Binary Modulation p. 309
- PCM Signals and Detectors p. 310
- Synchronous ASK p. 311
- Synchronous PSK p. 312
- Synchronous FSK p. 313
- Envelope Detection of ASK p. 313
- Envelope Detection of FSK p. 316
- Bit Rate and Bandwidth Efficiency p. 317
- Comparison of ASK, FSK, and PSK Systems p. 318
- 9.4 Effect of Rayleigh Fading on Bit Error Rates p. 320

- Effect of Rayleigh Fading on Coherent PSK p. 321
- Effect of Rayleigh Fading on Noncoherent FSK p. 322
- Comparison of Faded and Nonfaded Error Rates p. 322
- 9.5 M-ary Digital Modulation p. 324
 - Quadrature Phase Shift Keying p. 325
 - Probability of Error for QPSK p. 327
 - M-ary Phase Shift Keying p. 330
 - Quadrature Amplitude Modulation p. 330
 - Channel Capacity p. 331
- 10 Receiver Design p. 335
 - 10.1 Receiver Architectures p. 335
 - Receiver Requirements p. 335
 - Tuned Radio Frequency Receiver p. 337
 - Direct Conversion Receiver p. 337
 - Superheterodyne Receiver p. 338
 - Duplexing p. 338
 - 10.2 Dynamic Range p. 340
 - Minimum Detectable Signal p. 341
 - Sensitivity p. 343
 - Dynamic Range p. 343
 - Automatic Gain Control p. 344
 - Compression and Third-order Intermodulation p. 346
 - 10.3 Frequency Conversion and Filtering p. 347
 - Selection of IF Frequency p. 347
 - Filtering p. 348
 - Spurious-free Range p. 348
 - 10.4 Examples of Practical Receivers p. 350
 - FM Broadcast Receiver p. 350
 - Digital Cellular Receiver p. 351
 - Millimeter Wave Point-to-Point Radio Receiver p. 352
 - Direct-Conversion GSM Receiver p. 355
- Appendices p. 357
 - A Wireless System Frequency Bands p. 358
 - B Useful Mathematical Results p. 358
 - C Fourier and Laplace Transforms p. 359
 - D The Complementary Error Function p. 360
 - E Chebyshev Polynomials p. 361
 - F Decibels and Nepers p. 362
- Index p. 363