

- List of figures p. xiii
- List of tables p. xvii
- Notes on contributors p. xix
- Introduction p. 1
- 1 Development and trends in supply chain management Donald Waters p. 3
 - Introduction p. 3
 - Changing views of logistics p. 3
 - Integration of the supply chain p. 6
 - Logistics strategy p. 7
 - Trends in logistics p. 10
 - Global logistics p. 14
 - Measuring performance p. 15
 - Improving performance p. 17
 - Conclusions p. 18
 - References p. 19
- 2 New directions in logistics Martin Christopher p. 22
 - The emergence of the value-conscious customer p. 22
 - Logistics and supply chain management p. 24
 - The new competitive framework: the three Rs p. 28
 - The organizational challenge p. 30
 - Summary p. 32
 - References p. 32
- 3 Future trends in supply chain management Peter Hines p. 33
 - Abstract p. 33
 - Introduction p. 33
 - Key area 1 More than just lorries and buyers p. 36
 - Key area 2 More than just orders and information p. 42
 - Key area 3 More than just fast and efficient p. 46
 - Key area 4 More than just textbooks and totebins p. 49
 - Summary and conclusion p. 51
 - Acknowledgement p. 52
 - References p. 52
- 4 Agile supply chain operating environments Remko van Hoek p. 56
 - Summary p. 56
 - Introduction p. 56
 - Agile supply chain principles p. 57
 - Operating circumstances requiring agility p. 58
 - The categorization for operating environments p. 63
 - Conclusion and reflections p. 64
 - References p. 65
- 5 Time compression in the supply chain Adrian Beesley p. 66
 - Time compression and competition p. 67
 - What time compression is p. 68
 - The time compression approach: competitive advantage p. 70

- The time compression approach: cost advantage p. 72
- The time compression approach: quality advantage p. 73
- The time compression approach: technology advantage p. 73
- The time compression approach: customer focus p. 74
- Benefits of time compression p. 75
- Examples of the application of time compression p. 77
- Conclusion p. 80
- References p. 81
- 6 Formulating a logistics strategy Nathalie Fabbe-Costes and Jacques Colin p. 82
- Why formulate logistics strategies? p. 82
- A conceptual approach to formulating logistics strategy p. 85
- Illustrated typology of possible logistics strategies p. 90
- Strategic action itineraries in logistics p. 97
- Conclusions p. 101
- Summary p. 101
- References p. 102
- Further reading p. 103
- 7 Thinking strategically about supply chain relationships management: the issue of incentives Glyn Watson and Andrew Cox and Chris Lonsdale and Joe Sanderson p. 104
- Incentivization and the process of exchange p. 105
- Incentivization and the outsourcing dilemma p. 109
- Incentivization and supplier management p. 112
- Conclusion p. 116
- References p. 116
- 8 Supply/demand chain management: the next frontier for competitiveness Dag Ericsson p. 117
- The starting point p. 117
- Perceived customer value p. 118
- The evolution of the logistics concept p. 121
- A new perspective p. 122
- E-logistics p. 123
- Process management p. 126
- Supply chain management p. 128
- Demand chain management p. 129
- Demand/supply chain linkages p. 130
- E-nets p. 132
- Conclusions p. 134
- References p. 135
- Further reading p. 136
- 9 Internet traders can increase profitability by reshaping their supply chains Robert Duncan p. 137
- Internet trading is set to account for a quarter of all purchases in the next five years p. 137
- Customer satisfaction so far has been less than satisfactory p. 138

- The integration of the business processes and systems did not always receive enough management attention p. 138
- Moving away from traditional supply chains and distribution networks adds complexity but provides an opportunity for profit p. 139
- How Internet traders can take advantage of the opportunities available from streamlined supply chains and distribution networks p. 145
- The establishment of a vision of the future p. 145
- Reviewing business processes and electronic systems p. 148
- The opportunity is waiting to be exploited p. 149
- References p. 150
- 10 Organization, the supply chain and IT Philip Schary and Ashok Chandrashekar p. 151
- The path to the Internet p. 152
- The Internet implications p. 154
- Networks and the new players p. 158
- The new organization p. 164
- Concluding remarks p. 167
- References p. 168
- 11 Performance measurement and management in the supply chain Alan Braithwaite p. 172
- Introduction p. 172
- Keeping score--a basic management principle p. 173
- The balanced scorecard: the standard for goal setting and measurement p. 174
- The fundamental concepts of supply chain management and measurement p. 177
- Mastering the complexity of supply chain and logistics performance management p. 178
- The principle of 'input and output measures' p. 180
- Setting goals across the chain through service level agreements p. 181
- The 'delivery, recovery and stewardship' model p. 183
- Defining the specific metrics across the chain p. 185
- Collecting and managing data p. 189
- Future directions in performance measurement p. 189
- Conclusion p. 192
- Note p. 193
- References p. 193
- 12 Benchmarking in logistics and supply chain management Tim Randall p. 194
- Introduction p. 194
- What benchmarking is p. 195
- A brief history of benchmarking p. 196
- What it can do for you p. 197
- Scoping benchmarking studies p. 198
- Quantitative versus qualitative benchmarking p. 199
- A systematic approach p. 200
- The people issues in benchmarking p. 204
- The pitfalls p. 205
- Critical success factors (CSFs) for benchmarking p. 206
- Hasn't benchmarking had its day? p. 207

- Lessons learnt p. 207
- Supply-chain-related case studies--benchmarking in action p. 208
- Conclusions p. 211
- References p. 211
- 13 Outsourcing the logistics function Alan McKinnon p. 212
 - Introduction p. 212
 - Growth of outsourcing p. 212
 - Factors promoting outsourcing p. 215
 - The process of externalization p. 218
 - Recent trends in the purchase of logistical services p. 219
 - Evolving relationship between providers and users of logistical services p. 227
 - Conclusion p. 230
 - References p. 230
- 14 Delivering sustainability through supply chain management Kirstie McIntyre p. 233
 - Background p. 233
 - Purchasing or procurement p. 235
 - Production or manufacturing p. 237
 - Use and maintenance p. 241
 - Dispose or recycle and reuse p. 242
 - Managerial and financial sustainability p. 244
 - Conclusion p. 246
 - References p. 246
- 15 Retail logistics John Fernie p. 249
 - Introduction p. 249
 - The evolution of the logistics concept p. 249
 - Logistics and competitive strategy in retailing p. 253
 - Efficient consumer response (ECR) p. 256
 - Differences in logistics 'culture' in international markets p. 259
 - Consumer choice and retail formats p. 260
 - Manufacturer-retailer relationships p. 262
 - Logistics cost structures p. 264
 - Role of the third-party contractor p. 265
 - The internationalization of logistics practice p. 265
 - The future p. 268
 - References p. 274
- 16 Managing the financial supply chain: scope, services and problems Lars Stemmler p. 276
 - Summary p. 276
 - Introduction p. 276
 - Enlarging the scope of supply chain management towards finance p. 277
 - Drivers of finance-related logistics costs p. 279
 - Controlling your finance costs in the supply chain p. 280
 - Creating value through supply chain finance p. 284
 - Integrating finance into supply chain management p. 284
 - The market for SCF services p. 287

- Conclusion p. 287
- References p. 288
- 17 Training in logistics David Granville p. 290
 - About learning p. 291
 - Business trends p. 292
 - Development trends p. 293
 - Responding to a changing environment p. 295
 - The logistics environment p. 296
 - Performance development model p. 297
 - Learning foundations p. 302
 - If you think training is expensive, try ignorance p. 304
 - Conclusion p. 306
 - References p. 307
- 18 City logistics: the continuing search for sustainable solutions Tony Whiteing and Michael Browne and Julian Allen p. 308
 - Introduction: the urban logistics dilemma p. 308
 - The EC and UK contexts p. 309
 - A range of potential urban freight solutions p. 309
 - Urban freight trans-shipment centres p. 310
 - Promoting consolidated freight movements in urban areas p. 311
 - Bigger vehicles or smaller vehicles for urban logistics work p. 313
 - Vehicle technology: alternative vehicle fuels and quieter vehicles p. 314
 - Information systems and transport telematics: urban logistics applications p. 315
 - Time-of-day or vehicle size restrictions in urban areas p. 316
 - Urban collection and delivery at night p. 316
 - Freight quality partnerships in the United Kingdom p. 317
 - Conclusions: the preference for encouragement rather than enforcement p. 318
 - References p. 319
 - Further reading p. 320
- 19 Global enterprise logistics: one tradition ends and another begins Derek Gittoes and Larry Simcox p. 321
 - Introduction p. 321
 - Global enterprise logistics p. 322
 - Global logistics: current issues p. 323
 - Case studies p. 325
 - Uncovering value within your logistics organization p. 334
 - Conclusion p. 338
- 20 The changing supply of logistics services in the UK Colin Bamford p. 339
 - Introduction p. 339
 - UK market trends p. 340
 - Market structure: a recent oligopoly p. 342
 - 'Europe sans frontiers': new market opportunities and threats p. 344
 - UK logistics companies in the rest of Europe p. 347
 - Other European logistics operators in the United Kingdom p. 349

- Conclusions p. 350
- References p. 350
- 21 Global strategy David Hatherall p. 352
- Introduction p. 352
- Requirements for integration p. 353
- Preparing to integrate the supply chain p. 354
- International partnerships p. 355
- Continuous improvement p. 357
- Cultural differences p. 358
- Balancing price, quality and service p. 359
- Conclusions p. 359
- 22 Developments in Western European logistics strategies Michael Browne and Julian Allen p. 361
- Introduction p. 361
- Changes in the demand for logistics services p. 362
- Market structure of logistics service providers p. 365
- Logistics strategies in the European grocery industry p. 368
- Transportation in Europe p. 373
- Opportunities and pressures for logistics providers in a new Europe p. 377
- Concluding remarks p. 379
- References p. 380
- 23 Logistics strategies for Central and Eastern Europe Grzegorz Augustyniak p. 382
- Introduction p. 382
- Conditions of economic development of CEE countries before 1990 p. 383
- The logistics system of CEE before 1989 p. 384
- Development of logistics in the period of transition p. 386
- Logistics strategies in CEE countries p. 394
- Conclusions p. 397
- References p. 398
- Further reading p. 398
- 24 Route-to-market for Western consumer goods in Asia Bill Galvin and Donald Waters p. 399
- Economic background p. 399
- Consumer markets in Southeast Asia p. 401
- Current players in Southeast Asia p. 403
- Choosing routes for entry to Asia's markets p. 404
- An example of entering the market: Tesco p. 410
- Conclusions p. 411
- References p. 411
- 25 Logistics strategies for North America Trevor Heaver and Garland Chow p. 413
- Introduction p. 413
- Distinctive North American conditions p. 415
- Supply chain management strategies p. 417
- Features of supply chain processes p. 422

- Conclusion p. 426
- References p. 426
- Index p. 429