- Acknowledgments p. xix
- List of Figures p. xxi
- List of Text Boxes p. xxiii
- List of Tables p. xxiv
- List of Acronyms and Abbreviations p. xxv
- Part I Fundamentals for Discerning Consumers p. 1
- 1 Understanding the Nature of Research p. 3
- Introduction p. 3
- What Is All This Research About? p. 3
- Who Is All This Research For? p. 4
- Is All of this Research Really That Important? p. 4
- If Applied Linguistics Research Is So Important, How Can We Understand It Better? p. 4
- Overview p. 5
- Why Be a Consumer of Research? p. 6
- The Motivation Behind Research p. 7
- Demythologizing Research p. 7
- The Meaning of True Research p. 8
- Identifying Important Questions p. 9
- Where Are the Answers? p. 12
- Key Terms and Concepts p. 19
- Additional Recommended Reading p. 20
- 2 How to Locate Research p. 21
- Chapter Overview p. 21
- Where to Look and What to Look For p. 21
- Preliminary Sources p. 22
- Secondary Sources p. 27
- Tables of References/Bibliographies p. 30
- Is All Primary Research of Equal Weight? p. 30
- Differentiating Primary From Secondary p. 33
- How to Obtain Research Articles p. 35
- What Journals Are Related to Applied Linguistics? p. 36
- Key Terms and Concepts p. 36
- Additional Recommended Reading p. 37
- PART II The Major Components of Published Research p. 39
- 3 Understanding the Framework of a Primary Research Article p. 41
- Chapter Overview p. 41
- The Framework of a Research Article p. 41
- The Title p. 41
