

Table of contents

- Introduction
- Siheyuan
- Non-private living - a counter model for siheyuan in Beijing: Monyama house, Tokyo
- Casa Chorizo
- The private home as the basic element of the city block: Casa
- Patio House
- The facade acting as interface: Patio Island, Ypenburg
- Dar and Riad
- Courtyard houses in an artificial landscape: the Copenhagen mountain dwellings
- Kyo-machiya
- Furniture in the yard: Rue de Suisse, Paris
- Mini House
- The house in the middle of its neighbourhood or the world in the house - Japanese single-family houses
- Tower House
- The vertical floor plan: Tokyo Tower House
- Quadruple Villa
- Example of living style: Quadruple Villa, Mulhouse
- Chinese Shophouse
- Draftless design: Hanoi Space Book
- Terrace House with Mews
- Two faces of a house: Brooklands Avenue, Cambridge
- Front Garden House
- A break in style revealed: compound in Rue de la Colonie, Paris
- Terrace House
- Terraced open space - houses in Graz and Les Herbiers
- Longtang House
- Spotlight on collective living: Seijo Garden Courts
- Cité
- The parasite in the block: Viviendas entre Medianeras, Seville
- Courtyards and Passages
- The interrupted spatial sequence of faubourg architecture: apartments and studios in Rue de Charonne in Paris
- Hamburger Terrassen (Falkenried)
- An urban settlement: Donnybrook in London
- Pol House
- The block as a miniature city: Carabanchel
- Wûrfelhaus
- Variability within a constant building form: The city villas of Spandau
- Chicago Courtyards
- The house in the block: Lisbon Oriente Complex
- Megablock
- The megablock - a continuation of architectural tradition Charlottehaven

- Town Palace (Casa de Blocco)
- The city as a work of art: the Paris quarter of Massena
- Zinshaus
- Improvement after the fact: multiple dwelling units in Mexico
- Hamburger Burg
- Structured living: 'VM Houses' in Copenhagen
- Berlage Superblock
- Design rules for the city block: Front de Parc, Bercy, Paris
- Plex-House
- The 'planted' single-family house - Yerba Buena lofts, San Francisco
- Miertskaserne
- Space defined by passage and courtyard: Passage Groix in Paris
- Post-Haussmannian Apartment Building
- Hausmann Light - Buildings in Rue Louis Blanc in Paris
- Casa de Mig and Casa de Quart
- Selective transparency of the block: Viviendas in El Gramal
- Casa de Renta
- New approach to architectural tradition: Buenos Aires
- Early Residential Towers
- A city reinvents itself: high-rise apartments in Vancouver
- Figure Ground Comparisons
- Process Comparison Table
- Density Comparison Table
- Bibliography
- Index