

Table of contents

Section I: General Considerations Chapter 1. Depression in Neurologic Disorders: Why should neurologists care? Chapter 2. Neurobiological Aspects of Depression: How do they affect neurological disorders? Chapter 3. Clinical Manifestations of Depression Chapter 4. Screening Instruments for Depression in Neurologic Disorders: Their application in the clinic and in research. Chapter 5. Suicidality in Neurologic Disorders Chapter 6. Neuropsychological Aspects of Depression: Their relevance in depression in neurologic disorders. Chapter 7. Depressive Disorders in Children and Adolescents with Neurologic Disorders. Chapter 8. Basic Principles in the Management of Depressive Disorders. Chapter 9: Transcultural Differences in the Evaluation and Treatment of Depression Section II: Depression and Neurologic Disorders Chapter 10. Depression and Migraine Chapter 11. Depression and Stroke Chapter 12. Depression and Epilepsy Chapter 13. Depression and Parkinson's Disease Chapter 14. Depression and Huntington's Disease Chapter 15. Depression and Dementia Chapter 16. Depression and Traumatic Brain Injury