

Table of Contents

PART ONE 1 Foundations of Quantum Mechanics 1.1 Matter 1.2 Atoms, Elementary Particles, and Molecules 1.3 Light and Quantization of Energy 1.4 Electron Configuration 1.5 Wave-Particle Duality and Probabilistic Nature 1.6 Wavefunctions and Probability Amplitudes 1.7 Some exotic states of matter 1.8 Summary 1.9 Practice Problems 1.10 References and further reading 2 Dirac's bra-ket notation and Hermitian Operators 2.1 Scalars 2.2 Complex Numbers 2.3 Vectors 2.4 Matrices 2.5 Linear Vector Spaces 2.6 Using Dirac's bra-ket notation 2.7 Expectation Values and Variances 2.8 Eigenstates, Eigenvalues and Eigenfunctions 2.9 Characteristic Polynomial 2.10 Definite Symmetric Matrices 2.11 Tensors 2.12 Statistics and Probability 2.13 Summary 2.14 Practice problems 2.15 References and further reading 3 The Quantum Superposition Principle and Bloch Sphere Representation 3.1 Euclidian Space 3.2 Metric Space 3.3 Hilbert space 3.4 Schrodinger Equation 3.5 Postulates of Quantum Mechanics 3.6 Quantum Tunneling 3.7 Stern and Gerlach Experiment 3.8 Bloch sphere representation 3.9 Projective Measurements 3.10 Qudits 3.11 Summary 3.12 Practice Problems 3.13 References and further reading PART TWO 4 Qubit Modalities 4.1 The vocabulary of quantum computing 4.2 Classical Computers - a recap 4.3 Qubits and usability 4.4 Noisy Intermediate Scale Quantum Technology 4.5 Qubit Metrics 4.6 Leading Qubit Modalities 4.7 A note on the dilution refrigerator 4.8 Summary 4.9 Practice Problems 4.10 References and further reading 5 Quantum Circuits and DiVincenzo Criteria 5.1 Setting up the development environment 5.2 Learning Quantum Programming Languages 5.3 Introducing Quantum Circuits 5.4 Quantum Gates 5.5 The Compute Stage 5.6 Quantum Entanglement 5.7 No-Cloning theorem 5.8 Quantum Teleportation 5.9 Superdense coding 5.10 Greenberger-Horne-Zeilinger state (GHZ state) 5.11 Walsh-Hadamard Transform 5.12 Quantum Interference 5.13 Phase kickback 5.14 DiVincenzo's criteria for quantum computation 5.15 Summary 5.16 Practice Problems 5.17 References and further reading 6 Quantum Communications 6.1 EPR Paradox 6.2 Density Matrix Formalism 6.3 Von Neumann Entropy 6.4 Photons 6.5 Quantum Communication 6.6 The Quantum Channel 6.7 Quantum Communication Protocols 6.8 RSA Security 6.9 Summary 6.10 Practice Problems 6.11 References and further reading 7 Quantum Algorithms 7.1 Quantum Ripple Adder Circuit 7.2 Quantum Fourier Transformation 7.3 Deutsch-Jozsa oracle 7.4 The Bernstein-Vazirani Oracle 7.5 Simon's algorithm 7.6 Quantum arithmetic using QFT 7.7 Modular exponentiation 7.8 Grover's search algorithm 7.9 Shor's algorithm 7.10 A quantum algorithm for k-means 7.11 Quantum Phase Estimation (QPE) 7.12 HHL algorithm for solving linear equations 7.13 Quantum Complexity Theory 7.14 Summary 7.15 Practice Problems 7.16 References and further reading 8 Adiabatic Optimization and Quantum Annealing 8.1 Adiabatic evolution 8.2 Proof of the Adiabatic Theorem 8.3 Adiabatic optimization 8.4 Quantum Annealing 8.5 Summary 8.6 Practice Problems 8.7 References and further reading 9 Quantum Error Correction 9.1 Classical Error Correction 9.2 Quantum Error Codes 9.3 Stabilizer formalism 9.4 The path forward - fault-tolerant quantum computing 9.5 Surface codes 9.6 Protected qubits 9.7 Practice Problems 9.8 References and further reading 10 Conclusion 10.1 How many qubits do we need? 10.2 Classical simulation 10.3 Backends today 10.4 Future state 10.5 References